

USAIG Performance Vector-eligible policyholders attending the 2016 NBAA Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition:
Here's a chance to take your safety benefit even higher!

Aviation Performance Solutions (APS)—a leading provider of Upset Prevention & Recovery Training and USAIG offer you a chance to win a S211 jet UPRT instructional flight!

The S211 jet UPRT flight is a perfect add-on to the existing USAIG Performance Vector UPRT program. Building on the academic knowledge and skills developed in the standard 2 day/3 flight course, the preflight instruction and 1-hour flight in the SIAI Marchetti S211 jet trainer illustrates the transferability of fundamental recovery techniques into the higher speed, higher performance domain of corporate business jet aircraft. The S211 provides a robust margin of safety that is perfect for training in the environment in which most professional pilots operate.

Get in the running:

- Contest is open to USAIG policyholders with members attending NBAA BACE in Orlando FL Nov 1-3, 2016.
- Have attending members visit USAIG at booth #4306 and drop off a business card. Each unique business card company-branded to a USAIG Performance Vector eligible policyholder dropped off at the booth becomes one chance to win.
- Double your chances by also visiting APS at booth #4663—each eligible business card dropped off with APS goes into the drawing as well!

A winner will be drawn and notified after the convention. If the winning policyholder plans to send a pilot to the APS UPRT course as their annual Performance Vector benefit, the S211 flight can simply be added to that course. If preferred, the winning policyholder can schedule the S211 training as a standalone event for one of its pilots.

Travel and logistical expenses to attend the training in Phoenix, AZ are the prize-winner's responsibility.*